Monthly Update From the Chosen Children Village

Road to recovery

In recent years, typhoons have become more frequent and intense, wreaking havoc on many communities around the country. And the Village was not spared, just last year our farm and most part of the village was devastated by a typhoon. Preparations before it arrived had been done to be able to minimize any damage it might cost, but nobody can really tell what to expect.

Instead of crying over spilled milk, our inexhaustible Founder, Mommy Lita and the never say no Executive Director Mama Weens, assessed and planned out its rehabilitation.

Together with our even industrious and hardworking children, piece by piece they put the farm and livestock together and even better!

They cleaned up debris, repaired broken structures and checked on their livestock and crops to determine the extent of the damage and take appropriate action. Damaged crops were replanted, as well as other flora in and around the village.

They took advantage of any and all available resources to aid in their recovery efforts. Now they are looking for steps and measures to build resilience and reduce the impact of future typhoons.

In conclusion, recovery can be a daunting task, but with proper planning, preparedness, recovery efforts, and everyone's cooperation, it's possible to bounce back from the devastating effects of these natural disasters. ***
